Businessman chosen to head Pan Am Games

February 11, 2010 – The Toronto Star by Vanessa Lu, Staff Reporter

The 2015 Pan Am Games will be led by a business executive with international experience and a passion for sport.

Ian Troop, who began his career at Procter and Gamble and then moved to become president of ConAgra Foods International, will take on the all-important chief executive officer's post, overseeing planning and operations for the $1.4 billion Games to be held in July 2015.
